

Curator: Schools and Teachers

Background

For over a century the Whitechapel Gallery has premiered world-class artists from modern masters such as Pablo Picasso, Jackson Pollock, Mark Rothko and Frida Kahlo to contemporaries such as Sophie Calle, Lucian Freud, Gilbert & George and Mark Wallinger.

With beautiful galleries, exhibitions, artist commissions, collection displays, historic archives, education resources, inspiring art courses, dining room and bookshop, the Gallery is open all year round, so there is always something free to see.

The Gallery is a touchstone for contemporary art internationally, plays a central role in London's cultural landscape and is pivotal to the continued growth of the world's most vibrant contemporary art quarter.

The Education Department

The Education Department plays a key role in fulfilling the Whitechapel Gallery's mission statement: To bring modern and contemporary art and ideas to local, national and international audiences by providing a place for free-thinking, creativity and learning.

The Schools Programme enables teachers, children and young people to experience and make art, enriching classroom practice and improving confidence and creative potential. The Curator: Schools and Teachers will develop a core strand of the programme within the Education department working alongside the Head of Education and Public Programmes and three Curators: Community and Youth Programmes, Families, and Public Programmes.

Role

The Curator: Schools and Teachers will further develop links with local primary and secondary schools. S/he will initiate projects and generate resources, expand collaborations with Schools and contribute to the development of a creative and ambitious programme that stretches through all levels of learning and critical engagement.

Accountability

The Curator: Schools and Teachers will report directly to the Daskalopoulos Head of Education and Public Programmes.
