Before the event:

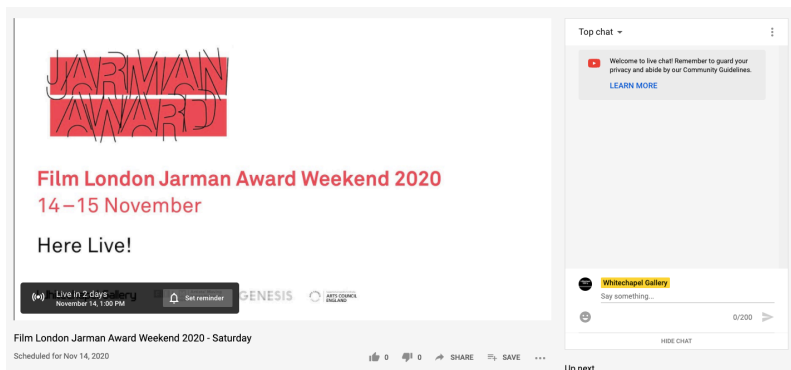

You do not need a ticket to access this event. It is free to watch.

Please be aware that the event is suitable for those over the age of 16. The event may include content that is not suitable for younger audiences.

How to watch:

The event will be broadcast directly to YouTube, here:

<https://youtu.be/N-bSFoBtmNw>

It is also hosted on the Whitechapel Gallery website, here:

<https://www.whitechapelgallery.org/events/film-london-jarman-award-weekend-2020>

If you would like to take part in the live chat while watching, you will need to be logged in to a YouTube account.

Captions:

The event contains both pre-recorded and live content. The live content will be captioned, however this is provided by artificially intelligent software. As a result some of the captions may not be perfectly accurate. The captioning will be visible to all viewers during these parts.

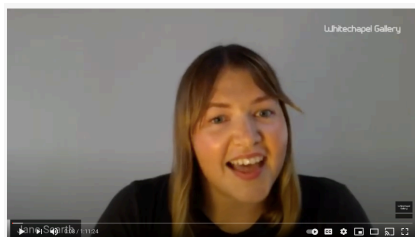

For pre-recorded content, a transcript will be available to access from the event page.

Taking Breaks:

Because the event is being live streamed, you can choose to pause the broadcast. When you click 'play' again, it will continue from where you paused it.

If you need to take a longer break and return to the event on another day, some but not all of the recordings will be available at the same YouTube link, here: <https://youtu.be/N-bSFoBtmNw>

What to expect during the event:

An introduction from Jane Scarth – Curator of Public Programmes at Whitechapel Gallery.

This is followed by a welcome from Maggie Ellis - Head of Artists' Moving Image at Film London.

Artist Michelle Williams Gamaker will discuss her film 'House of Women' with two people that perform in the film: Krishna Istha and Tina Mander.

There will be an opportunity to ask Michelle, Krishna and Tina questions using the live chat function on YouTube.

Then there will be a break.

Greta Hewison - Production Coordinator at Film London Artists' Moving Image Network will welcome us back for the next part of the event.

Kate Adams and Tim Corrigan – two of the people involved in Project Art Works will present a selection of film works. They will also be speaking with other artists and makers from Project Art Works. They will also speak with Mark Sealy – Director of Autograph ABP.

There will be an opportunity to ask Kate and Tim questions using the live chat function on YouTube.

Then there will be a break.

Greta Hewison will welcome us back for the next part of the event.

Artist Jenn Nkiru presents her film 'HUB TONES'. She will also speak to artist and musician Hannah Catherine Jones.

There will be an opportunity to ask Jenn and Hannah questions using the live chat function on YouTube.

Greta Hewison will say thank you and mark the end of the event.

The event continues on Sunday 15 November, starting at 2pm.

Thank you for joining us for this event. We welcome your feedback and you can send this to: publicprogrammes@whitechapelgallery.org.
