Behaviour

- Ensure that the space you are in is free of any personal or sensitive information or inappropriate material.
- Do not give out any personal information online.
- Questions and comments must focus on the content of the event.
- Treat other participants with respect and understanding.
- Acknowledge that other participants may have different views to you, listen and discuss them respectfully.
- The topics of our events are sometimes sensitive. In discussion and comments, be generous in the way you listen to others, and ensure that space is given to those who are joining us with lived experience of the topics at hand.
